The death of William B. Barry, who has been confined to his home on West Main street for nearly a month, occurred last night at 9 o'clock. Mr. Barry had not been in good health for some months, and so determined he was not to give up that he would not remain at home until weakness compelled him to do so. He was afflicted with an abscess, inaction of the kidneys causing his death. He was in the 59th year of his age; was born in Muskingum county, Ohio, Sept. 20, 1837; removed to Logan county in 1857; on Nov. 14, 1857, he married Amelia D. Bann, who died in Decatur June 24, 1874. The family removed from Lincoln to Decatur in 1884, and here Mr. Barry had lived a quiet, untroubled life. He was always a contributing citizen, first being associated with James S. Simpson, the remainder of his life with Joseph Mills. A few years ago the firm of Mills & Barry bought the planting mill property on 11st E. Main street and have made a success of the enterprise. The deceased leaves four children—Mrs. Nellie Phillips, of Las Vegas, N. M.; George B. Barry, Wm. L. Barry, and Jessie Barry. The youngest child is in her 15th year. His brothers are George Barry, of Laporte, and Aubrey Barry, of Kansas; sisters, Mrs. Matthy, of Lincoln, and Mrs. Young, of Texas. Decatur loses a good and valuable citizen by the death of Mr. Barry. His life was devoted to his family and his business, and as a result of his industry and skill as a mechanic he amassed considerable property.

The funeral will take place from the residence, on West Main street, to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Reese Estate.

Ephert C. Reese, dealer in guns, powder and sporting goods, residing claimants inappropiate, made a voluntary assignment to James W. Reese yesterday afternoon for the benefit of his creditors. The schedule filed shows liabilities aggregating $21,000, of which sum he is indebted to the Anstine Powder Co., $15,501.50; Hercules Powder Co., $3,275.29; Gorin, Dawson & Co., $800; Hubbard, Spencer & Bartlett, Chicago, $414.15; John Ullrich, Decatur, $19.60; E. C. Meacham & Co., St. Louis, $115.00; A. G. Spaulding & Bro., Chicago, $30.19; Simmons Hard ware Co., St. Louis, $144.01; and many other foreign firms in small amounts. The book accounts unpaid foot up about $4,000, and a rough estimate of the stock on hand is placed at $6,000. It is the heaviest failure Decatur has had in many years. The assignee may be able to pay creditors 40 to 50 cents on the dollar. Two or three years ago Mr. Reese, who is a clever gentleman and is regarded as a good business man, came here from Kansas. His failure is attributed to the hard times, bad accounts, and indebtedness before coming to Decatur. His misfortune is generally regretted.

JOHN BLAIR, who built from Illinois, made an exhibition of his cruelty and recklessness yesterday afternoon, on the Washburn track, near the fair grounds. He was seated in a spring wagon driving a spirited bay horse. In the wagon were three jugs and several bottles filled with whisky. Blair had been drinking. When he reached the Washburn crossing he turned the horse down the track, driving it through the cattle guard. He whipped the poor horse vigorously and got over the guard, the animal coming out with bleeding legs. Further down he reached another cattle guard and was driving the horse through that towards the Stevens creek bridge when several boys and young men in the neighborhood came up and persuaded Blair to take the public road. He had just got off the railroad track when the west bound passenger train dived by. Blair acted like a man demented.

The Springfield Visitors.

Shortly after 9 o'clock this forenoon, the members and friends of the First Methodist Sabbath school of Springfield, with the pastor, Rev. W. H. Musgrove, in charge, arrived at Oakland Park on a special Washburn train, to participate in a picnic until 5 o'clock this evening, when the party will return home. There were five coaches and a baggage car in the train, and there were 633 persons on board, and all are having a good time boating, playing games, patronizing the horse swing, and many visiting the business portion of the city to call on acquaintances and to see the town. Many Decatur people visited the Park during the day to greet relatives and friends who came up on the excursion.

The Contract Awarded.

The building committee of the board of supervisors on Wednesday afternoon awarded the contract for putting up the new fire-proof building on the jail lot, to be used by the county judges, circuit clerk and county clerk. The bidders were as follows: McNabb & Son, Decatur, $10,837; J. B. White, Bloomington, $10,800; Caldwell & Son, Decatur, $10,885; M. G. Patterson, Decatur, $9,735. The bid of Mr. Patterson being the lowest, he was awarded the contract. The building is to be finished completely by December 10th of the present year. Mr. D. O. Muehlke has been engaged by the county to superintend the work.

The Martin Albert Clydesdale colt show at Warrensburg on Wednesday, drew a large crowd of farmers and other admirers of horse flesh. The first prize, $30, was awarded A. J. Widick; second prize, $15, to Eugene Orossman; third prize, $10, to Daniel Herich. The judges were Eli Brennehan, D. Buckles and S. R. Montgomery. There were 35 entries.

The Paris club defeated the Arcadia at the Arcadia yesterday, by a score of 9 to 3.

There was a great stir out on West Decatur street last evening, when Alfred Bailey returned home after an absence of two weeks. He told his grown son, James, to go out and dig potatoes. He did so, but failed to take off his coat. This made Alf. wrathful and father and son got into an altercation during which Jim struck his father over the head with the hoe handle, causing the blood to flow freely. The two clung and Alf got his son's finger between his teeth, biting it slightly. The whole neighborhood was aroused by the disturbance and a crowd collected. Telephone messages in rapid succession were sent down town for the police, and boys ran down to the square to hunt officers. Mrs. Bailey fled in a hysterical state to a neighbor's house and a panic seemed to take possession of the children. Marshal Mason and Constable Weisell finally reached the scene, and brought father and son down town and put them in jail. This forenoon before Justice Eymann Mr. Bailey entered a formal charge against his son, charging him with assault with intent to murder and kill. Trial set for 2 p. m. Monday next. Bond, $300. James went before Curtis and had a peace warrant issued for the arrest of his father. Trial set for the 31st at 9 a. m.; bond $200. Both were recommitted to jail in default of bail.

Big Corn.

In spite of drought, heat and wind storms, Macon county can still make a creditable showing in the way of corn. Mr. J. T. Clough, of Illinois township, has placed on our table samples of mammoth corn, which he credits to the fact of his having ridged the corn rows with a diamond plow, which, he thinks, prevented the drought from injuring it.

A Close Rub.

The Decatur team had a close game at Joliet yesterday, winning the contest in the last inning by the pretty score of 3 to 1. Evidently the yellow-hammers found the ball the last time at bat. They play at Kalamazoo, Mich., to-day and to-morrow, going thence to South Bend for games on Saturday and Sunday.

The Little Detective.

The play for to-night by the Wilber Company will be the sparkling three-act comedy, "Little Detective," in which the charming soubrette, Bessie Taylor, will assume five characters. The troupe is a good one and has elegant costumes. There was a large audience out last night to see "Phoenix." Admission, 10 and 20 cents.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Martha A. Bell, member of the Dr. Curtis family for many years, took place from the Hotel Brunswick last evening. The touching services were conducted by Rev. George Stevens, pastor of Stapp's Chapel. C. B. Prescott, Mrs. A. W. Oonklo, Mrs. John D. Henkle and Sherman McCallahan furnished appropriate music for the occasion. About the casket were placed a great profusion of lovely floral offerings, crosses, shields, pillows, anchors and bouquets. At the head of the casket was a pillow of white with the word "Mother" across it in purple flowers. The parlors and hall were filled with relatives and friends, paying their last tribute to the dead. The remains were laid at rest in Greenwood. Messrs. E. McNabb, John Lytle, J. H. Lewis, Mr. Latham, C. Nichols and Henry Lyon served as pallbearers.

Dr. Ira B. Curtis desires to join with the family of Mrs. Martha Ann Bell, deceased, in an expression of thanks to their neighbors and many friends for kindness during the long illness of their mother, and for the sympathy and thoughtful attention they have rendered in their bereavement.

To the Voters of Macon County.

A report has been circulated that I have withdrawn, and that I am out of the race for county judge, and various other untrue reports have been circulated. Who is responsible for them I do not know. I did not announce myself as a candidate until a wish that I should become such had been repeatedly expressed in a large number of places, and I am a candidate until the Republican convention shall determine otherwise.

They Have a Scary Adventure on a Swiss Lake—Life in Italy.

The following extracts are from interesting letters from the daughters of Mr. Moses Stafford, now in Europe with their class mates from Lasell Seminary:

DAVENO, August 26, 1895.

This is the most lovely place I ever saw. We did not go to Lake Como, but came here to Lake Maggiore instead. Some of us were a little inclined to grumble when Dr. L. changed the itinerary; but now we are more than content. Our hotel is fine and new, stands all by itself on the edge of the lake. In the grounds is an old ruined tower, a swift mountain stream, winding walks, lovely flowers, with terraces along the lake front. Back of the hotel are great mountains, in front the lovely lake with great blue mountains all around it, with tiny little Italian towns and boats. One great bold peak has a pink cloud clasp around its throat, and looks a model chaperon for the giddy foot-hills. I wish I could make you see how lovely it is here, the air is cool and so sweet. I am down on the terrace by the lake with Dianthe. If I stay in Europe I shall stay here at Daveno a month. It is literally the land of milk and honey. The gardeners are near us making bouquets, which I am sure are for our plates at dinner. Northern Italy is so different from Southern Italy; here everything is so splendid. Turin and Milan are splendid cities, we enjoyed them both very much. The Cathedral at Milan is grand; the exterior is not so fine, but, oh, the interior is beyond description. In Milan everything is so cheap, good, long and alive only 30 cents other goods in proportion. There was where I stayed, to be a millionaire.

LAVERA, August 11th.—This is such a nice morning, and the Jungfrau is so lovely—alt snow-covered. But I must tell you of our doings from Sunday last: Sunday evening we took a boat on lovely lake Maggiore and went over to Locarno, in Switzerland. Next morning went in the cars through St. Gothard pass to Lake Lucerne, and by boat to Vitznau, where we went up by inclined railway to the very top of Mt. Rigi, the Rigi and the Wetterhorn in the background. We saw an unusually clear sunset, and the next morning got up at 4:45 to see the sun rise over the snowy mountains, and it was well worth an early rising.

From there we went to Lucerne by boat. Lake Lucerne is lovely, as are all the Swiss lakes. They are all a deep green color. The Italian lakes are blue. Lucerne is a beautiful place—so Swiss. We saw the "Wounded Lion," which is the most imposing piece of sculpture we have seen. It is cut out of a perpendicular cliff, near the bottom the rock is hollowed out, and in the hollow is the gigantic lion. From Lucerne we went by boat to Alpnach, and from there, over the Brienz pass in coaches, which was lots of fun. It rained some during the day, but we did not mind it much. The clouds hung low and in some places we were above them. Little funny Swiss chalets dotted all along. We saw lots of pretty Swiss girls in their peculiar dresses. We were to stop at Gimmelwald on Wednesday night, but the hotel was full, so we stayed at Brionn on the other side of Lake Brionn. It is an awfully funny little town, so like the country. Our hotel was simply two chalets joined—rather uncomfortable. We had an adventure near to tell of that experience. The literary says, "illumination of falls at 11." It had been raining and we were on the opposite side of the lake, but we thought we must see the illumination, so the Professor got a small row boat and sent us over. Going over we had a fine time singing, etc.; saw the lovely falls all lit up by colored lights—red, green and purple; but in the meantime a storm had come up, and it commenced to rain and blow at a great rate, and by the time we got to the middle of the lake things got pretty serious. The boats tossed terribly, some of the girls crying and some seeking. I saw how perfectly the Professor managed the boat and was not much frightened, though others were, and so were the people at our hotel. Luckily we escaped without even a cold. It is nice to tell of, but a little bit dangerous. Yesterday we came here to Lucerne, and on Wednesday we went to Brionn and the other section of our party again. The toll across on an island has just struck 11. Some Italians on the water are playing an accordion—played by an Italian it is a thing of beauty. You would not recognize it.

Celebration.

The 66th birthday anniversary of Mr. Joel Morrison was celebrated in a gay manner at the residence of his son-in-law, Jacob Troutman, near Wyokle's Switch, on August 23d. It was a surprise on Joel. When the company drove up with well-filled baskets, and found him busy peeling apples, he was asked if he knew how old he was, when he appeared to take in the situation. A splendid country dinner was served, and all fared sumptuously, while the company chatted pleasantly. Mr. Morrison received a number of useful gifts from members of the family and friends. The party included Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Ass. Gulick, Mrs. J. W. Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. William Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson, Ed. Johnson, Geo. Johnson, Mrs. I. B. Gring, Mrs. Frank Gring, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Funk, Mr. and Mrs. Priddy, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. Younger Filson, Mrs. Phoebe Widick, Mr. Jacob Constant, Mrs. Nana and cousin, Mrs. Richardson, of Dawson, and Mr. James Constant, Mechanicsburg.

What G. C. Radcliffe Says.

To Whom it May Concern.

Admitting that I have had years of experience as a book-keeper, and received instructions in the same from teachers of renown and widespread reputation, it gives me pleasure to state that I have recently completed a thorough course of book-keeping at the Central Business College, under Prof. H. S. Delle, and that I consider his way of teaching far superior to any I have ever seen. I find his method of imparting instruction in Practical Book-keeping, which he is so thoroughly conversant with, so simple and practical that from the youngest scholar it is clear and easily understood; and the course is so arranged as to involve every kind of a transaction that is possible to occur in business, and where the student's desire to satisfy his patrons was my good will and respect, and I cheerfully recommend him and his enterprise, the Central Business College to the citizens of Decatur, as a school where their sons and daughters can obtain a thorough practical business education, and especially to book-keepers who are not satisfied with their present attainments, as well worthy of their attention and patronage. Witnessing him the success that his ability and earnest endeavors to please deserve, I remain,

Very Respectfully,

GEO. C. RADCLIFF.

THE CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

The following were the closing quotations in Chicago at 1 p. m. to-day, received by G. C. Caldwell, Commission Merchant, this city:
